

Working Women's History Project
&
American Association of University Women, Chicago, IL Branch

present

Flames of Injustice: The Triangle Factory Fire's Legacy

Saturday, March 3, 2012

Registration, Coffee & Cookies: 1:00 - 1:30 p.m.

Program: 1:30 - 3:30 p.m.

Grace Place Community Center
637 S. Dearborn, Chicago
Tickets: $10

Tickets available at the door or by mail
AAUW Chicago Branch
2746 W. Morse Ave., Chicago, IL 60645

Transportation: Red Line to Harrison & State stop

Parking: Outdoor Lot north of Grace Place - $14
Garage at 711 South Plymouth Court - $8

The Play:

THE NINTH FLOOR DOOR
Blocked Justice of the Triangle Fire
by Mary Bonnett

Performed by:

Mary Bonnett, Brigid Duffy*, Paul Odell, Laura Elleseg, Alma Washington*, Ken Morris on guitar
(*Members of Actors' Equity)

The Panel, moderated by Helen Ramirez-Odell, Vice President, WWHP, will include:

- Mary Bonnett, playwright & director, answering questions about the play
- Marlene Targ Brill, author, on Hannah Shapiro, a strike leader in Chicago's clothing workers strike of 1910
- Katie Jordan, Workers United, on her own experience as Lytton's Dept. Store's first African-American tailor
- Barbara Spiegel, president AAUW, Chicago, IL Branch, on AAUW and women workers

Question and Answer period will follow the presentations

For more information:

jackie@wwhpchicago.org or 773.667.4690
ChicagoAAUW@hotmail.com